Maybe your PC doesn't meet hardware requirements; Maybe you bought a game by mistake; maybe you played the title for an hour and just didn't like it. I don't care. Valve will issue, upon request via help.steampowered.com, a refund for any reason, if the request is made within the required return time, and, in the case of the games, if the title was played for less than two hours. There are more details below, but even if you fall outside the refund rules we described, you can ask for a refund anyway and let's take a look. You will be refunded in full for your purchase within one week of approval. You will receive the refund in Steam Wallet funds or through the same payment method you used to make the purchase. If, for any reason, Steam is unable to issue a refund through your initial payment method, your Steam wallet will be credited with the full amount. (Some payment methods available via Steam in your country may not support the return of a purchase to the upfront payment method. Click here for a full list.) The Steam refund offer, within two weeks of purchase and with less than two hours of game time, applies to games and software applications on the Steam store. Here's a look at how refunds work with other types of purchases. Refunds on downloadable content (steam store content that can be used in another game or software application, DLC) DLC purchased in the Steam store is refundable within fourteen days of purchase, and if the underlying title has been played for less than two purchase of the DLC, as long as the DLC has not been consumed, modified or transferred. Please note that in some cases, Steam will not be able to give refunds for some third-party DLC (for example, if the DLC irreversibly levels a game character). These exceptions will be clearly marked as non-refundable on the Front Store page before Refunds on Steam in-game purchases will offer a refund for in-game purchases in all games developed by Valve within forty-eight hours of purchase, as long as the item in the game has not been consumed, modified or transferred. Third-party developers will be able to activate refunds for in-game items under these conditions. Steam will tell you at the time of purchase if the game developer has chosen to offer refunds on the item in the game you are buying. Otherwise, in-game purchases in non-Valve games are not refundable via Steam. Refunds on pre-purchased securities When you pre-purchase a stock on Steam (and you paid for the title in advance), you can request a refund at any time prior to the release of that security. The standard refund period of 14 days/two hours also applies from the release date of the game. Steam wallet refunds you can claim a refund for Steam Wallet funds within 14 days of purchase if they were purchased on Steam and if you did not use any of these funds. Renewable Subscriptions For certain content and services, Steam offers periodic access (e.g. monthly, annual) that you pay on a regular basis. If a revolving subscription has not been used in the current billing cycle, you can request a refund within 48 hours of the initial purchase or within 48 hours of any automatic renewal. Content is considered to be used if subscription games were played during the current billing cycle or if benefits or discounts included in the subscription were used, consumed, modified or transferred. Please note that you can cancel an active subscription at any time by using your account details. Once cancelled, your subscription will no longer be automatically renewed, but you will retain access to subscription content and benefits until the end of your current billing cycle. Steam Material In the applicable time limit identified in the equipment refund policy, you can claim a refund for Steam equipment and accessories purchased via Steam for any reason. You must ship the equipment to us within 14 days of the refund request, following the instructions we provide. Please refer to the equipment refund policy for detailed guidelines on the process for returning and cancelling Steam equipment and accessories. Refunds on packages You can receive a full refund for any package purchased from the Steam Store, as long as none of the items in the package have been transferred, and if the combined usage time for all items in the package is less than two hours. If a package includes a in the game or DLC that is non-refundable, Steam will tell you if the entire bundle is refundable upon departure. Purchases made outside of Steam Valve cannot provide refunds for purchases made outside of Steam (e.g., CD keys or Steam wallet cards purchased from third parties). VAC Prohibitions If acc (the anti-cheating valve system) prohibits you on a game, you lose the right to refund this game. Video Content We Are offer refunds for video content on Steam (e.g. movies, short films, series, episodes and tutorials), unless the video is packaged with other refundable content (non-video). Refunds on unselected gifts can be refunded within the standard 14-day/two-hour repayment period. Donations exchanged can be refunded under the same conditions if the recipient of the donation initiates the refund. The funds used to purchase the gift will be returned to the original buyer. Right to withdraw from the EU To get an explanation of how the EU withdrawal right works for steam customers, click here. Abuse refunds are designed to eliminate the risk of buying securities on Steam, not as a way to get free games. If it seems to us that you are abusing refunds, we may stop offering them to you. We do not consider it unfair to request a refund on a security that was purchased just before a sale and then immediately rebuying that security for the sale price. You can ask for a refund or get some other help for your help.steampowered.com steam purchases. Definitions Wherever we talk about personal data below, we hear any information that may either identify you as an individual (Personal Identification Information) or that may be connected to you indirectly by linking it to personal identifying information. Valve also processes anonymous data, aggregated or not, to analyze and produce statistics related to client habits, usage patterns and demographics as a group or as individuals. This anonymous data does not allow the identification of the customers to whom it relates. Valve may share anonymous data, aggregated or not, with third parties. Other capitalized terms of this privacy policy will have the meaning defined in the steam subscriber contract (SSA). 2. Why Valve collects and processes the data valve collects and processes personal data for the following reasons: a) when it is necessary for the execution of our agreement with you to provide a full gaming service and provide the associated content and services; (b) when it is necessary to comply with the legal obligations before us (e.g., our obligations to retain certain information under tax laws); (c) where it is necessary for the legitimate and legal interests of Valve or a third party (e.g., the interests of our other clients), except where those interests are replaced by your dominant legitimate interests and rights; or (d) when you have given your consent. These reasons for collecting and processing personal data determine and limit the personal data we collect and how we use it (Article 3. below), how long we store it (Article 4. below), who has access to it (Article 5. below) and what time we store it and other control mechanisms are available to you as a user (Article 6 below). 3. Data Types and Sources We collect 3.1 Basic Account Data When creating an account, Valve will collect your email address and country of residence. You should also choose a username a password. Providing this information is required to register a Steam user account. When setting up your account, the account is automatically assigned a number (the Steam ID) that is then used to reference your user account without directly exposing your personal identifying information about you. We do not require you to provide or use your real name for setting up a Steam user account. 3.2 Transaction and Payment Data In order to make a transaction on Steam (e.g., purchase subscriptions for content and services or to finance your Steam portfolio), you may need to provide payment data to Valve to enable the transaction. If you pay by credit card, you must provide typical credit card information (name, address, credit card number, expiry date and security code) to Valve, which Valve will process and pass on to the payment service provider of your choice to enable the transaction and perform anti-fraud checks. Similarly, Valve will receive data from your payment service provider for the same reasons. 3.3 Other data that you explicitly submit We will collect and process personal data whenever you explicitly provide it to us or send it as part of communication with others on Steam, for example in Steam community forums, chats or when you provide comments or other user-generated content. This data includes: the information you post, comment on or follow in one of our content and services; Information sent by chat; Information you provide when you request information or support from us or purchase content and services from us, including the information needed to process your orders with the relevant payment merchant or, in the case of physical goods, shipping providers; Information you provide when you participate in competitions, contests and tournaments or answer surveys, such as your contact information. 3.4 Your use of the steam customer and websites We collect a variety of information through your general interaction with Steam's websites, content and services. The personal data we collect may include, but is not limited to, browser and device information, data collected through automated electronic interactions, and application usage data. Similarly, we will follow your process through our websites and apps to verify that you are not a bot and optimize our services. 3.5 Your use of games and other subscriptions In order to provide you with services, must collect, store and use various information about your activity in our content and services. Content-related information includes your Steam ID, as well as what is commonly referred to as game statistics. By game statistics, we mean information about your game preferences, game progress, game time, and information about the device you're using, including the operating system you're using, device settings, unique device identifiers, and crash data. 3.6 Tracking data and cookies We use cookies, which are text files placed on your computer, and (e.g., web tags, pixels, ad tags and device identifiers) to help us analyze how users use our services, as well as improve the services we offer, to improve the website's marketing, analysis or functionality. The use of cookies is standard on the Internet. Although most web browsers automatically accept cookies, the decision to accept or not is yours. You can adjust your browser settings to prevent cookies from being received, or to provide a notification every time a cookie is sent to you. You can opt out of using cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. The management of the use of cookies for each browser is more detailed on the following help page: . However, please note that if you do this, you may not be able to access all the features of our websites. When you visit one of our services, our servers record your IP address, which is a number that is automatically assigned to the network of which your computer is a part. 3.7 Content Recommendations We can process information collected under Section 3 so that content, products and services displayed on Steam store pages and in update messages displayed at the Steam customer launch can be tailored to your needs and filled with relevant recommendations and offers. This is done to improve your customer experience. This allows you to prevent your data from being processed by turning off the Steam Store page and Steam notifications in the Interface section of Steam Client settings. Subject to your separate consent or where this is explicitly permitted under applicable email marketing laws, Valve may send you marketing messages about Valve's products and services to your email address. In such a case, we can also use your collected information to customize these marketing messages as well as collect information about whether you opened those messages and what links in their text that you followed. You can disable or withdraw your consent to receive marketing emails at any time by withdrawing consent from the same page where you already provided it or by clicking on the unsubscribe link provided in each marketing email. 3.8 Information required to detect violations We collect certain data necessary for our detection, investigation and prevention of fraud, cheating and other violations of the SSA and applicable laws (Violations). This data is only used for detection, investigation and prevention purposes, if necessary, action on these violations and stored only for the minimum time necessary for this purpose. If the data indicate that a violation has occurred, we will more store the data for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims during the applicable limitation period or until a legal matter related to it has been resolved. Please note that the specific data stored for this purpose will not be disclosed to you if the disclosure will compromise the mechanism by which we detect, investigate and precede such violations. 4. How long we store the data We store your information only for the time it takes to complete the purposes for which the information is collected and processed or — where applicable law provides for a longer storage and retention period — for the period of storage and retention required by law. Subsequently, your personal data will be deleted, blocked or anonymized, as required by applicable law. In particular: If you terminate your Steam user account, your personal data will be marked for deletion, except as legal requirements or other legitimate purposes in force dictate longer storage. In some cases, personal data cannot be completely deleted to ensure consistency in the Gaming Experience or The Steam Community Market. For example, matches you've played that affect data and scores from other players' matches won't be deleted; on the contrary, your connection to these matches will be anonymized at all times. Please note that Valve is required to retain certain transactional data under statutory commercial and tax law for a period of 10 years. If you withdraw your consent to process your personal or personal data of your child, we will delete your personal data or your child's personal data without undue delay as long as the collection and processing of personal data was based on the consent withdrawn. If you exercise the right to object to the processing of your personal data, we will consider your objection and delete your personal data that we have processed for the purposes for which you objected without any delay, unless there is another legal basis for the processing and retention of that data or unless applicable law requires us to retain the data. 5. Who has access to Data Valve does not sell personal data. However, we may share or provide access to each of the categories of personal data we collect as required for the following business purposes. 5.1 Valve and its subsidiaries may share your personal data with each other and use it to the extent necessary to achieve the objectives listed in Section 2 above. In the event of a reorganization, sale or merger, we may transfer personal data to the third party concerned, subject to applicable laws. 5.2 We may also share your personal data with our third-party service providers who provide customer support services in relation to goods, content and services distributed via Steam. Your personal data will be used in accordance with this privacy policy and only to the extent necessary for the performance of customer support services. 5.3 In accordance with Internet standards, we may also share certain information (including your IP address and the identification of Steam content you wish to access) with our third-party network providers who provide content delivery network services, game server services in relation to Steam. Our content delivery network providers allow the digital content you requested to be broadcast, for example when using Steam, using a distributed server system that provides you with the content, depending on your geographic location. 5.4 Google Analytics Our website uses Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. (Google). Google Analytics uses cookies to help site operators analyze how visitors use the site. The information generated by the cookie about the use of the website by visitors will generally be transmitted and stored by Google on servers in the United States. On this site, The IP anonymization has been activated. The IP addresses of users visiting Steam will be shortened. Only in exceptional cases will a full IP address be transferred to a Google server in the United States and shortened. On behalf of the site operator, Google will use this information to evaluate the website for its users, to compile reports on website activity, and to provide other services related to website activity and Internet use for website operators. Google will not associate the IP address transferred under Google Analytics with other data held by Google. You can opt out of using cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. However, please note that in this case, you may not be able to use all the features of this site. You can learn more about how Google Analytics collects and uses data www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners. In addition, you can prevent Google from collecting and processing data about your use of the website by downloading and installing the browser plug-in via the following link: . 5.5 We make certain data related to your Steam user account available to other players and our partners through the Steamworks API. This information can be accessed by anyone by querying your Steam ID. At a minimum, the public character name you chose to represent on Steam and your Avatar image are accessible this way, as well as if you have been banned for cheating in a multiplayer game. The accessibility of any additional information about you can be controlled via your Steam Community user profile page; Publicly available data on your profile page can be accessed automatically via the Steamworks API. In addition to publicly available information, game developers and publishers have access to certain Steamworks API information directly related to games they exploit. At a minimum, this information includes your ownership of the game in question. Depending on the Steamworks services are implemented in the game, it can also include ranking information, your progress in the game, achievements you have completed, your multiplayer game matchmaking information, in-game articles and other information to make the game work and provide support for it. For more information about Steamworks services that a specific game has implemented, please visit its store page. Although we do not knowingly bet personal identifying information about you via the Steamworks API such as your real name or email address, any information you share about yourself on your public steam profile can be accessed via the Steamworks API, including information that may make you identifiable. 5.6 The Steam community includes message boards, forums and/or chat areas, where users can exchange ideas and communicate with each other. When you post a message to a forum, forum or chat area, be aware that the information is made public online; therefore, you do so at your own risk. If your personal data is posted on one of our community forums against your will, please use the reporting feature and the Steam help site to request its removal. 5.7 Valve can allow you to link your Steam user account to an account offered by a third party. If you agree to link the accounts, Valve may collect and combine the information you have allowed Valve to receive from a third party with information from your Steam user account to the extent authorized by your consent at that time. If the account link requires the transmission of information about your Valve person to a third party, you will be notified before the link takes place and you will have the option to consent to the link and the transmission of your information. The third party's use of your information will be subject to the third party's privacy policy, which we encourage you to review. 5.8 Valve may disclose personal data to comply with court orders or laws and regulations that require us to disclose this information. 6. Your Rights and Control Mechanisms Data protection laws in the European Economic Area, California and other jurisdictions give their residents certain rights to their personal data. While other jurisdictions may grant fewer legal rights, we make the tools designed to exercise these rights available to our clients around the world. To allow you to exercise your data protection rights in a simple way, we provide a dedicated section on the Steam support page (the privacy dashboard). This gives you access to your personal data, allows you to correct and delete it if necessary, and to oppose its use where you feel it is necessary. To access it, log on to the Steam support page at and choose my Account menu items - data related to your Steam account. In most cases, you can access, manage or delete personal data in the Privacy Dashboard, but you can also contact Valve with questions or requests via the contact processes described in sections 8 and 10 below. As a resident of the European Economic Area, you have the following rights to your personal data: 6.1 Right of access. You have the right to access your personal data that we hold about you, that is, the right to demand (i) information free of charge, that your personal data be retained, (ii) access and/or (iii) duplicates of the personal data retained. You can use the right to access your personal data via the Privacy Dashboard. If the claim affects the rights and freedoms of others or is manifestly unfounded or excessive, we reserve the right to charge reasonable fees (taking into account the administrative costs associated with communicating or taking the requested actions) or to refuse to act on the request. 6.2 Right to rectify. If we process your personal data, we will endeavour to ensure that your personal data is accurate and up-to-date for the purposes for which it was collected. If your personal data is inaccurate or incomplete, you can change the information you provided via the Privacy Dashboard. 6.3 Right to erasure. You have the right to obtain the deletion of personal data about you if the reason why we could collect it (see article 2. above) no longer exists or if there is another legal reason for its removal. For individual items of personal data, please change them via the Privacy Dashboard or request deletion via the Steam support page. You can also request the deletion of your Steam user account via the Steam support page. Because of the deletion of your Steam user account, you will lose access to Steam services, including the Steam user account, subscriptions and game information related to the Steam user account, and the ability to access other services for which you use the Steam user account. We allow you to restore your Steam user account for a grace period of 30 (thirty) days from the time you request the deletion of your Steam user account. This feature allows you not to lose your account by mistake, due to your loss of your account credentials or because of hacking. During the suspension period, we will be able to finalize the financial and other activities that you may have initiated before sending the request to delete the Steam user account. After the grace period, the personal data associated with your account will be deleted subject to Article 4. Above. In some cases, deleting your Steam user account, and thus deleting personal data, is complicated. Namely, if your account has a business relationship with Valve, for example because of your work for a game developer, will only be able to delete your Steam user account after transferring this role to another user or have dissolved the business relationship. In some cases, given the complexity and number of requests, the period of erasure of personal data may be extended, but for a period of no more than two additional months. 6.4 Object right. When our handling of your personal data is based on legitimate interests in accordance with Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR / Article 2.c) of this privacy policy, you have the right to object to this treatment. If you object, we will no longer process your personal data unless there are compelling and compelling legitimate reasons for processing as described in section 21 of the GDPR; particularly if the data are necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims. You also have the right to file a complaint with a supervisory authority. 6.5 The Right to Restrict the Processing of Your Personal Data You have the right to obtain a restriction on the processing of your personal data under the conditions set out in Article 18 of the GDPR. 6.6 Right to portability of personal data You have the right to receive your personal data in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit this data to another controller under the conditions set out in Article 20 of the GDPR. Valve makes your personal data available in structured HTML format via the privacy dashboard as described above. 6.7 Right to post-mortem control of your personal data If a French data protection law is applicable to you, you have the right to establish guidelines for the preservation, deletion and transmission of personal data after your death, in accordance with Article 40-1 of Law 78-17 of January 6, 1978 on information, technology, data files and civil liberties. 7. Children The minimum age to create a Steam user account is 13. Valve will not knowingly collect personal data from children under this age. When some countries apply a higher age of consent for the collection of personal data, Valve requires parental consent before creating a Steam user account and collecting the personal data associated with it. Valve encourages parents to ask their children never to give out personal information when they are online. 8. Contact information You can contact Valve's data protection officer at the address below. While we review any mail request, be aware that to combat fraud, harassment and identity theft, the only way to access, correct or delete your data is to log in with your Steam user account at and select the menu items - My account - View account data. Additional information for users of the European Economic Area, the United Kingdom and Switzerland Valve and TR Technical Services Inc., its U.S. subsidiary (collectively Valve) comply with the EU-US and US privacy framework. Privacy Shield Framework as stated by the U.S. Department of Commerce regarding the collection, use and retention of personal information transferred from the European Union and Switzerland to the United States. Valve has certified to the Commerce Department that it adheres to the principles of the Privacy Shield. If there is a conflict between the In this privacy policy and the principles of the privacy shield, the Privacy Shield Principles must govern. To learn more about the Privacy Shield program and to view our certification, please visit . In accordance with the principles of the Privacy Shield, Valve is committed to resolving complaints about our collection or use of your personal information. People from the EU and Switzerland who have enquiries or complaints about our privacy policy should first contact Valve here. If you have an unresolved privacy or data usage concerns that we have not adequately addressed, please contact our U.S.-based third-party dispute settlement provider (free of charge) at . As the privacy shield (explains, some residual claims that are not settled by other means may be subject to binding arbitration. In this case, you will be offered an arbitration option. The principles of the Privacy Shield describe Valve's responsibility for personal data, which it then transfers to a third-party agent. Under the Principles, Valve remains liable if third-party agents treat personal information in a manner inconsistent with the Principles, unless Valve proves that it is not responsible for the event that caused the damage. The Federal Trade Commission has jurisdiction over Valve's compliance with the Privacy Shield. 10. Additional Information for California Users CACP grants California residents certain privacy rights regarding the personal data we collect. We are committed to respecting these rights and respecting the CCPA. The following explains these rights and Valve's practices towards them. The right to know. Under the CCPA, you have the right to ask you to provide you with the personal data we collect, use, disclose and sell. Right to request removal. You also have the right to request the removal of personal data that is in our possession, subject to certain exceptions. Please note that your request to delete data may affect your use of the Steam service in some cases, and we may refuse to delete information for reasons set out in this privacy policy or as permitted by the CCPA. Other rights. The ACCP also grants California residents the right to opt out of the sale of their personal data. As described in Article 5, we do not sell personal data and we do not have it over the past 12 months. You also have the right to receive notice of our practices when or before your personal data is collected. Finally, you have the right not to be discriminated against for exercising your rights under the CCPA. Exercising your rights. The primary way to access, manage or delete your personal data is through the Privacy Dashboard, as described in Section 6 of this policy. Customers can also delete their Steam account and associated personal data, as described in Section 6.3 of this privacy policy. If you are To access or delete data via the Privacy Dashboard, you can also contact us with a request to exercise these rights using the form found . To verify your identity, you will need to log in to your Steam user account to use the form. Finally, you can contact us with a request to questions@valvesoftware.com, however, before providing access or deletion of any personal data, based on a request received by email, we will need to verify your identity using the proof of ownership process described in . You can appoint, in writing or by proxy, an agent authorized to apply on your behalf to exercise your rights under the CCPA. Before accepting such a request from an agent, we will require the officer to provide proof that you authorized it to act on your behalf, and we may need you to verify your identity directly with us. Categories, sources, purposes and recipients of the data we collect. Over the past 12 months, we have collected the categories of personal data described in Section 3 of this privacy policy. The sources from which we collect personal data and the purposes for which we collect and process it are described in sections 2 and 3. In the previous 12 months, we disclosed each of the categories of personal data for commercial purposes with the third-party categories described in Article 5. Similarly, we will follow your process through our websites and apps to verify that you are not a bot and optimize our services. 3.5 Your use of games and other subscriptions In order to provide you with services, we must collect, store and use various information about your activity in our content and services. Content-related information includes your Steam ID, as well as what is commonly referred to as game statistics. By game statistics, we mean information about your game preferences, game progress, game time, and information about the device you're using, including the operating system you're using, device settings, unique device identifiers, and crash data. 3.6 Tracking Data and Cookies We use cookies, which are text files placed on your computer, and similar technologies (e.g. web tags, pixels, advertising tags and device identifiers) to help us analyze how users use our services, as well as to improve the services we offer, to improve marketing, analytics or website functionality. The use of cookies is standard on the Internet. Although most web browsers automatically accept cookies, the decision to accept or not is yours. You can adjust your browser settings to prevent cookies from being received, or to provide a notification every time a cookie is sent to you. You can opt out of using cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. The management of the use of cookies for each browser is more detailed on the following help page: . However, please note that if you do this, you may not be able to access all the features of our websites. When you visit one of our services, our servers record your IP address, which is a number that is automatically assigned to the network of which your computer is a part. 3.7 Content Recommendations We can process information collected under Section 3 so that content, products and services displayed on Steam store pages and in update messages displayed at the Steam customer launch can be tailored to your needs and filled with relevant recommendations and offers. This is done to improve your customer experience. This allows you to prevent your data from being processed by turning off the Steam Store page and Steam notifications in the Interface section of Steam Client settings. Subject to separate consent or where this is explicitly permitted under applicable email marketing laws, Valve may send you marketing messages about Valve's products and services to your email address. In such a case, we can also use your collected information to customize these marketing messages as well as collect information about whether you opened those messages and what links in their text that you followed. You can withdraw or withdraw your consent to receive marketing emails at any time by removing consent on the same page where you have already provided it or click on the unsubscribe link provided in each marketing email. 3.8 Information required to detect violations We collect certain data necessary for our detection, investigation and prevention of fraud, cheating and other violations of the SSA and applicable laws (Violations). This data is only used for detection, investigation, prevention and, if necessary, action on these violations and stored only for the minimum time required for this purpose. If the data indicate that a violation has occurred, we will more store the data for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims during the applicable limitation period or until a legal matter related to it has been resolved. Please note that the specific data stored for this purpose may not be disclosed to you if the disclosure compromises the mechanism by which we detect, investigate and precede such violations. 4. How long we store the data We store your information only for the time it takes to complete the purposes for which the information is collected and processed or — where applicable law provides for a longer storage and retention period — for the period of storage and retention required by law. Subsequently, your personal data will be deleted, blocked or anonymized, as required by applicable law. In particular: If you terminate your Steam user account, your personal data will be marked for deletion, except as legal requirements or other legitimate purposes in force dictate longer storage. In some cases, personal data cannot be completely deleted to ensure consistency in the Gaming Experience or The Steam Community Market. For example, matches you've played that affect data and scores from other players' matches won't be deleted; on the contrary, your connection to these matches will be anonymized at all times. Please note that Valve is required to retain certain transactional data under statutory commercial and tax law for a period of 10 years. If you withdraw your consent to process your personal or personal data of your child, we will delete your personal data or your child's personal data without undue delay as long as the collection and processing of personal data was based on the consent withdrawn. If you exercise the right to object to the processing of your personal data, we will consider your objection and delete your personal data that we have processed for the purposes for which you will unless there is another legal basis for the processing and retention of this data, or unless applicable law requires us to retain the data. 5. Who has access to Data Valve does not sell personal data. However, we may share or provide access to each of the categories of personal data we collect as required for the following business purposes. 5.1 Valve and Affiliates can share your personal data with each other and use it to the extent necessary to achieve the objectives listed in Section 2 above. In the event of a reorganization, sale or merger, we may transfer personal data to the third party concerned, subject to applicable laws. 5.2 We may also share your personal data with our third-party service providers who provide customer support services in relation to goods, content and services distributed via Steam. Your personal data will be used in accordance with this privacy policy and only to the extent necessary for the performance of customer support services. 5.3 In accordance with Internet standards, we may also share certain information (including your IP address and the identification of Steam content you wish to access) with our third-party network providers who provide content delivery network services and gaming server services related to Steam. Our content delivery network providers allow the digital content you requested to be broadcast, for example when using Steam, using a distributed server system that provides you with the content, depending on your geographic location. 5.4 Google Analytics Our website uses Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. (Google). Google Analytics uses cookies to help site operators analyze how visitors use the site. The information generated by the cookie about the use of the website by visitors will generally be transmitted and stored by Google on servers in the United States. On this site, The IP anonymization has been activated. The IP addresses of users visiting Steam will be shortened. Only in exceptional cases will a full IP address be transferred to a Google server in the United States and shortened. On behalf of the site operator, Google will use this information to evaluate the website for its users, to compile reports on website activity, and to provide other services related to website activity and Internet use for website operators. Google will not associate the IP address transferred under Google Analytics with other data held by Google. You can opt out of using cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. However, please note that in this case, you may not be able to use all the features of this site. You can learn more about how Google Analytics collects and uses data www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners. In addition, you can prevent Google from collecting and processing data about your use of the site by downloading and installing the browser plug-in via the following link: . 5.5 We make certain data related to your Steam user account available to other players and our partners through the Steamworks API. This information can be accessed by anyone by querying your Steam ID. At a minimum, the name of the public figure you have chosen to represent you on Steam and Avatar image are accessible this way, as well as if you received a ban for cheating in a multiplayer game. The accessibility of any additional information about you can be controlled via your Steam Community user profile page; Publicly available data on your profile page can be accessed automatically via the Steamworks API. In addition to publicly available information, game developers and publishers have access to certain Steamworks API information directly related to users of the games they operate. At a minimum, this information includes your ownership of the game in question. Depending on the Steamworks services are implemented in the game, it can also include ranking information, your progress in the game, the achievements you have completed, your multiplayer game matchmaking information, elements in the game and other information needed to make the game work and provide support for it. For more information about Steamworks services that a specific game has implemented, please visit its store page. Although we do not knowingly bet personal identifying information about you via the Steamworks API such as your real name or email address, any information you share about yourself on your public steam profile can be accessed via the Steamworks API, including information that may make you identifiable. 5.6 The Steam community includes message boards, forums and/or chat areas, where users can exchange ideas and communicate with each other. When you post a message to a forum, forum or chat area, be aware that the information is made public online; therefore, you do so at your own risk. If your personal data is posted on one of our community forums against your will, please use the reporting feature and the Steam help site to request its removal. 5.7 Valve can allow you to link your Steam user account to an account offered by a third party. If you agree to link the accounts, Valve may collect and combine the information you have allowed Valve to receive from a third party with information from your Steam user account to the extent authorized by your consent at that time. If the account link requires the transmission of information about your Valve person to a third party, you will be notified before the link takes place and you will have the option to consent to the link and the transmission of your information. The third party's use of your information will be subject to the third party's privacy policy, which we encourage you to review. 5.8 Valve may disclose personal data to comply with court orders or laws and regulations that require us to disclose information. 6. Your Rights and Control Mechanisms Data protection laws in the European Economic Area, California and other jurisdictions give their residents certain rights to their personal data. While other jurisdictions may grant fewer legal rights, we make the tools designed to exercise these rights available to our customers around the world. To allow you to exercise your data protection rights in a simple way, we provide a dedicated section on the Steam support page (the privacy dashboard). This gives you access to your personal data, allows you to correct and delete it if necessary, and to oppose its use where you feel it is necessary. To access it, log on to the Steam support page at and choose my Account menu items - data related to your Steam account. In most cases, you can access, manage or delete personal data in the Privacy Dashboard, but you can also contact Valve with questions or requests via the contact processes described in sections 8 and 10 below. As a resident of the European Economic Area, you have the following rights to your personal data: 6.1 Right of access. You have the right to access your personal data that we hold about you, that is, the right to demand (i) information free of charge, that your personal data be retained, (ii) access and/or (iii) duplicates of the personal data retained. You can use the right to access your personal data via the Privacy Dashboard. If the claim affects the rights and freedoms of others or is manifestly unfounded or excessive, we reserve the right to charge reasonable fees (taking into account the administrative costs associated with communicating or taking the requested actions) or to refuse to act on the request. 6.2 Right to rectify. If we process your personal data, we will endeavour to ensure that your personal data is accurate and up-to-date for the purposes for which it was collected. If your personal data is inaccurate or incomplete, you can change the information you provided via the Privacy Dashboard. 6.3 Right to erasure. You have the right to obtain the deletion of personal data about you if the reason why we could collect it (see article 2. above) no longer exists or if there is another legal reason for its removal. For individual items of personal data, please change them via the Privacy Dashboard or request deletion via the Steam support page. You can also request the deletion of your Steam user account via the Steam support page. Because of the deletion of your Steam user account, you will lose access to Steam services, including the Steam user account, subscriptions and account-related game information Steam and the ability to access other services for whom you use the Steam user account. We allow you to restore your Steam user account for a grace period of 30 (thirty) days from the time you request the deletion of your Steam user account. This feature allows you not to lose your account by mistake, due to your loss of your account credentials or because of hacking. During the suspension period, we will be able to finalize the financial and other activities that you may have initiated before sending the Request to delete account. After the grace period, the personal data associated with your account will be deleted subject to Article 4. Above. In some cases, deleting your Steam user account, and thus deleting personal data, is complicated. Namely, if your account has a business relationship with Valve, for example because of your work for a game developer, you will only be able to delete your Steam user account after transferring that role to another user or have dissolved the business relationship. In some cases, given the complexity and number of requests, the period of erasure of personal data may be extended, but for a period of no more than two additional months. 6.4 Object right. When our handling of your personal data is based on legitimate interests in accordance with Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR / Article 2.c) of this privacy policy, you have the right to object to this treatment. If you object, we will no longer process your personal data unless there are compelling and compelling legitimate reasons for processing as described in section 21 of the GDPR; particularly if the data are necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims. You also have the right to file a complaint with a supervisory authority. 6.5 The Right to Restrict the Processing of Your Personal Data You have the right to obtain a restriction on the processing of your personal data under the conditions set out in Article 18 of the GDPR. 6.6 Right to portability of personal data You have the right to receive your personal data in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and have the right to transmit this data to another controller under the conditions set out in Article 20 of the GDPR. Valve makes your personal data available in structured HTML format via the privacy dashboard as described above. 6.7 Right to post-mortem control of your personal data If a French data protection law is applicable to you, you have the right to establish guidelines for the preservation, deletion and transmission of personal data after your death, in accordance with Article 40-1 of Law 78-17 of January 6, 1978 on information, technology, data files and civil liberties. 7. Children The minimum age to create a Steam user account is 13. Valve will not knowingly collect personal data from children under this age. When some countries apply a higher age of consent for the collection of personal data, Valve requires parental consent before creating a Steam user account and collecting the personal data associated with it. Valve encourages ask their children never to give out personal information when they are online. 8. Contact information You can contact Valve's data protection officer at the address below. Although we review any mailed request, be aware that to combat fraud, harassment and identity theft, the only way to access, correct or delete your data is to log in with your Steam user account at and the selection of menu items - my account - account data. Valve Corporation Att. Data Protection Officer P.O. Box 1688 Bellevue, WA 98009 European Data Protection Representative: Valve GmbH Att. Legal Redsmarkt 9 D-20459 Hamburg Germany 9. Additional information for users of the European Economic Area, the United Kingdom and Switzerland Valve and TR Technical Services Inc., its wholly owned U.S. subsidiary (collectively Valve) complies with the EU-US and US privacy framework. Privacy Shield Framework as stated by the U.S. Department of Commerce regarding the collection, use and retention of personal information transferred from the European Union and Switzerland to the United States. Valve has certified to the Commerce Department that it adheres to the principles of the Privacy Shield. If there is a conflict between the terms of this privacy policy and the principles of the privacy shield, the principles of the privacy shield must govern. To learn more about the Privacy Shield program and to view our certification, please visit . In accordance with the principles of the Privacy Shield, Valve is committed to resolving complaints about our collection or use of your personal information. People from the EU and Switzerland who have enquiries or complaints about our privacy policy should first contact Valve here. If you have an unresolved privacy or data usage concerns that we have not adequately addressed, please contact our U.S.-based third-party dispute settlement provider (free of charge) at . As the privacy shield (explains, some residual claims that are not settled by other means may be subject to binding arbitration. In this case, you will be offered an arbitration option. The principles of the Privacy Shield describe Valve's responsibility for personal data, which it then transfers to a third-party agent. Under the Principles, Valve remains liable if third-party agents treat personal information in a manner inconsistent with the Principles, unless Valve proves that it is not responsible for the event that caused the damage. The Federal Trade Commission has jurisdiction over Valve's compliance with the Privacy Shield. 10. Additional Information for California Users CACP grants California residents certain privacy rights regarding the personal data we collect. We are committed to respecting these and to comply with the CCPA. The following explains these rights and Valve's practices towards them. The right to know. Under the CCPA, you have the right to ask you to provide you with the personal data we collect, use, disclose and sell. Right to request removal. You also have the right to request the removal of personal data that is in our possession, subject to certain exceptions. Please note that your request to delete data may affect your use of the in some cases, and we may refuse to delete information for reasons set out in this privacy policy or as permitted by the CCPA. Other rights. The ACCP also grants California residents the right to opt out of the sale of their personal data. As described in section 5, we do not sell personal data and have not done so in the last 12 months. You also have the right to receive notice of our practices when or before your personal data is collected. Finally, you have the right not to be discriminated against for exercising your rights under the CCPA. Exercising your rights. The primary way to access, manage or delete your personal data is through the Privacy Dashboard, as described in Section 6 of this policy. Customers can also delete their Steam account and associated personal data, as described in Section 6.3 of this privacy policy. If you are unable to access or delete data via the Privacy Dashboard, you can also contact us with a request to exercise these rights using the form found at . To verify your identity, you will need to log in to your Steam user account to use the form. Finally, you can contact us with a request to questions@valvesoftware.com, however, before providing access or deletion of any personal data, based on a request received by email, we will need to verify your identity using the proof of ownership process described in . You can appoint, in writing or by proxy, an agent authorized to apply on your behalf to exercise your rights under the CCPA. Before accepting such a request from an agent, we will require the officer to provide proof that you authorized it to act on your behalf, and we may need you to verify your identity directly with us. Categories, sources, purposes and recipients of the data we collect. Over the past 12 months, we have collected the categories of personal data described in Section 3 of this privacy policy. The sources from which we collect personal data and the purposes for which we collect and process it are described in sections 2 and 3. In the previous 12 months, we disclosed each of the categories of personal data for commercial purposes with the third-party categories described in Article 5.
